OUR FUTURE DECLARATION

The world has many problems that we need to address, a couple of them are, the environment and society. People have been treating the environment poorly for too long. Some of the biggest problems are deforestation, an abundance, energy use, and imported food. There needs to be a shift in society to end discrimination, to be respectful, be responsible, to end abuse, and fix education systems. This is our plan.

To achieve a successful future we need to treat the Earth better. We propose more laws, taxes, and fines. The rate the forests are disappearing is frightening and leaving animals without a habitat. There should be more strict laws against deforestation. The amount of litter is out of hand. We suggest setting a fine in opposition of littering. Carbon footprints are becoming larger and need to be reduced. We recommend the use of green energy. Technology is advancing rapidly towards greener ways of producing energy. The amount of imported foods are increasing. Local foods are a good solution.

OUR FUTURE DECLARATION

Society and people can and need to learn from each other. For example, our time in Japan showed us the ways that people can live respectfully with one another. Properly educating people will benefit the future by teaching many valuable lessons, such as acceptance, respect, and responsibility.

We hope to end wars and poverty. A better life results in a better world.
